Reading & Critical Thinking

Read the following passage, then answer the questions

Phishing is a type of attack that happens over the Internet. Users receive an email or text message that seems like it came from a trusted source. These users are being deceived. They are interacting with dangerous hackers. The attackers copy trusted companies. They send users to web pages that look like the ones we use every day. When users login or provide sensitive information, the attackers steal this data.

Attackers want your data for many reasons. They may use your data to commit identity fraud. This is when they use your identity to buy something with your credit. Then they receive the goods and you receive the bill. Or they may want your password to take over a computer network. They may want access to private emails. They may want customer records. They gain access by tricking people into giving them their login info.

Phishing attacks are dangerous, but you can spot them if you pay attention. One thing to watch is your address bar in your browser. Attackers use domains that look like the ones that we trust, but they are not the same.

Phishing attacks are scary and common. The reason why they are common is that they are effective. Many people accept appearances without suspicion. Browsing the Internet safely requires a healthy amount of suspicion. Not everything is what it appears. Nobody is trying to give you free money. Don't trust; verify.

Read the following passage, then answer the questions

Many of us believe that ‘small’ means ‘insignificant’. We believe that small actions and choices do not have much impact on our lives. We think that it is only the big things, the big actions and the big decisions that really count. But when you look at the lives of all great people, you will see that they built their character through small decisions, small choices and small actions. They transformed their lives through step-by-step approach. They nourished their good habits and chipped away their bad habits.

When we look at children growing up, we can see this process at work: the child first learns to crawl, then to stand and walk and then finally to run. The same is true in the natural world. The soil must first be tilled and then the seed must be sown. Next, it must be nurtured with enough water and sunlight and only then will it grow into trees laden with ripe fruits.

This is a common factor in the lives of all great people: each of their small decisions and actions, add up to have a profound impact in the long run. By understanding this principle, we can move forward, with confidence, in the direction of our dreams. Often when our 'ideal goal' looks too far from us, we become easily discouraged, disheartened and pessimistic. However, when we choose to grow in small ways, by taking small steps one at a time, our achievement becomes easy.

Read the following passage, then answer the questions

One day, I hopped in a taxi and we took off for the airport. We were driving in the right lane when suddenly a car jumped out of a parking space right in front of us. My taxi driver slammed on his brakes, skidded and missed the other car by just inches! The driver of the other car whipped his head around and started yelling at us. My taxi driver just smiled and waved at the guy. He was really friendly.

So I asked, 'Why did you just do that? This guy almost ruined your car and sent us to the hospital!' This is when my taxi driver taught me what I now call the 'The Law of the Garbage Truck'.

He explained that many people are like garbage trucks. They run around full of garbage, full of anger, and full of disappointment. As their garbage piles up, they need a place to dump it and sometimes they'll dump it on you. Don't take it personally. Just smile, wave, wish them well, and move on. Don't take their garbage and spread it to other people at work, at home or on the streets.

Successful people do not let garbage trucks take over their day. Life's too short to wake up in the morning with regrets, so 'Love the people who treat you right. Forgive the ones who don't'. This attitude will help you sail through life. There will be fewer jerks and bumps. Learn to take the bad with the good for life can never be perfect. Acceptance of what is, is the solution. Don't react, just accept and you will be a lot more happy.

Life is ten percent what you make it and ninety percent how you take it!

Read the following passage, then answer the questions

The World Health Organization (WHO) defines mental health as a state of complete well-being in which every individual realizes his or her own potential, can cope with the normal stresses of life, can work productively and fruitfully, and is able to contribute to her or his community. But it's almost impossible to find a person who ticks all these boxes. Nobody is perfect. Everyone is at least a bit anxious in his or her own way.

When a person's abilities fail to match up to the demands of society, stress builds up. Everyone experiences stress, be it a child, working individual or retired employee. When individuals cannot cope with stress, it leads to mental illness.

Stress is one of the root causes of several mental illnesses such as adjustment disorder, panic disorder, and anxiety disorder. While going to a therapist is an option, most people view it as taboo-one that will segregate them from others, something that will make people see them as abnormal or crazy. Talk to someone you trust, confide in a person who has kept your secrets safe.

Talking sounds simple, but sometimes it can be more difficult than taking medicine. If you feel even this is not helping, you need to approach a health professional to identify issues and manage your stress before it is too late.

Choose the correct answer:

Reading & Critical Thinking

Read the following passage, then answer the questions

Instagram is an online photo-sharing and social networking service that enables its users to take pictures, apply digital filters to it, and share them on a variety of social networking service. Such media sites include Facebook or Twitter.

Instagram was created in October, 2010. The service rapidly gained popularity. In April 2012, it was announced that over 30 million accounts were set up on the social network. Recently made headlines with its efforts to keep the "Insta-universe" as a positive space and has prohibited any hashtags or photographs that promote self-harm. There are basic Terms of Use that Services. By May 2012, 58 photographs were being uploaded and a new user was being gained each second. The total number of photographs uploaded had exceeded one billion. In my opinion Instagram is a refuge for all of young adults who want to run away from the adults taking over Facebook.

Either way which ever you choose they are both a fun and new way to interact and communicate with old friends and family and to make new friends from all around the world. If I had to choose one I would pick Instagram. People are nicer here and it is a lot less drama, I mean have you ever heard of a couple breaking up over Instagram? I did not think so. But Facebook was my first love, and who can forget their first love.

retire at young age because of serious memory loss. This man used to talk on his mobile phone for about six hours a day for a couple of years.

What is it that makes mobile phones potentially harmful? The answer is radiation. High-tech machines can detect very small amounts of radiation from mobile phones. Mobile phone companies agree that there is some radiation, but they say the amount is too small to worry about.

As the discussion about their safety continues, it appears that it's best to use mobile phones less often. Use your regular phone if you want to talk for a long time. Use your mobile phone only when you really need it. Mobile phones can be very useful and convenient, especially in emergencies. In the future, mobile phones may have a warning label that says they are bad for your health. So for now, it's wise not to use your mobile phone too often.

Read the following passage, then answer the questions

Time management is the act of planning and managing time that is spent on various activities. It helps us to increase the effectiveness and efficiency of the time utilised. It helps us to work smarter instead of harder and also enables us to get more work done in less time. The benefits of time management are enormous. It results in less stress and increased productivity.

Time is limited and hence it is important that we plan our time wisely and make the best use of it. We cannot retrieve the time that has been wasted; hence, we need to learn to use it effectively. If we have to manage time effectively, we need to be organised and focused.

With the help of time management techniques, we can accomplish more with lesser efforts. Time management includes effective planning of activities, setting of goals, setting deadlines, delegating work, prioritising our activities etc.

Most people feel they have too much to do and within too little time. Managing time wisely will help to find the right balance between time and work.

A few people resort to multi-tasking in order to get the work done within the specified time limit.

The mistake committed while working is when one is in a rush to meet the deadline without taking proper breaks for rest or relaxation. It is impossible to focus on work and to produce good results without any break. It helps to perform better if one takes a five-minute break every two hours of work. One can either take a walk, enjoy a cup of coffee or simply meditate.

Choose the correct answer:

21. Which one of the following best defines time management?

Read the following passage, then answer the questions

Work-life balance refers to the balance between a person's work and his personal life. Work-life balance refers to the idea that you need time for both work and other aspects of life. Other aspects of life can be personal interests, family and social or leisure activities. Many people work longer hours and use fewer vacation days, in part because of globalization, outsourcing, and a loss of job security. As a result, employees have less time for personal interests, personal development, and family. Reduced productivity, depression, high levels of stress, and burnout result from such an imbalance.

Although the employee makes the choice to work longer hours, companies should educate their workers on the importance of a healthy work-life balance. Employers can promote work-life balance in the office. For example, it is helpful to provide flex time, maternity leave, telecommuting, or even recreation or exercise facilities. If they don't, people will become money-rich, time-poor.

When employees feel a greater sense of control and ownership over their own lives, they tend to feel more motivated and less stressed out at work, which thereby increases company productivity and reduces the number of conflicts among employees and managers.

Reading & Critical Thinking

Read the following passage, then answer the questions

Honeybees make buzzing sounds when they fly, but that is not the way how they communicate. Instead, they do some amazing things to tell other bees things they need to know.

Dancing is the instrumental way of communication between bees especially when needing to tell where to find flowers. When a bee locates those flowers, it returns to the hive and does a special "dance." For a bee, a dance means moving in a certain way as it crawls around. There are "round dances" that bees do when the flowers are close to the hive. There are also "waggle dances," which the bees do when the flowers are farther away.

Bee dances are not the only way a bee communicates. Bees also produce chemicals called pheromones. If an animal like a bear approaches the beehive, the honeybees' bodies start to make these special chemicals. Other bees sense these pheromones and know that an animal is threatening the hive. They all start to fly out to try to sting the animal and scare it away.

You can see there are many ways to communicate that are different from what people do. Imagine doing a dance to tell someone something! The next time you see a honeybee on a flower, think about the bee that did its special dance to tell other bees where to go.

opportunity to do so. I am looking for a job in a small company, as I believe I will be able to interact with a wider range of people, and as a result, learn more skills. I would like to progress within a company and gain more responsibilities over the years.

Although I do not have work experience in finance, I have experience in working in an office environment. Before starting the accounting course, I worked for 6 months in an employment office as a receptionist. My duties involved meeting and greeting clients and visitors, taking phone calls, audio and copy typing and checking stock. Through this work, I developed my verbal and written communication skills. I had to speak confidently to strangers and deliver clear messages. I enjoyed working in a team environment. I believe the office appreciated my friendly manner and efficient work.

Read the following passage, then answer the questions

Everything you do in your day-to-day life has an impact on the planet, from the food you eat to the car you drive. Sustainable living includes the use of natural and renewable resources instead of creating excess waste and depleting resources for future generations. At the moment, we are producing resources, using energy and creating waste at a rate which isn't sustainable. This leads to environmental issues, such as pollution and climate change, which cause harm to the environment, wildlife and humans. By making small changes to your lifestyle, you can reduce your carbon footprint and help to tackle these issues.

Save energy: By using less energy, you can help to reduce carbon emissions. There are a number of ways, including switching off standby appliances and hanging clothes to dry instead of using a drier.

Use reusable alternatives: Replace single--use products by choosing to use reusable and eco-friendly alternatives instead.

Go paperless: To avoid wasting paper, choose to receive letters over email and only print off documents if necessary.

Recycle and reuse: Make sure you're recycling by putting your rubbish in the correct bins. Also, try to reuse products and items as many times as possible.

Donate unused items: If you don't use a product or wear a piece of clothing anymore, give it to a charity shop or someone you know would make use of it.

Save water: You can save water by making a number of small changes.

Drive less: Walk or ride a bike to your destination instead of driving if it's close enough – it's better for the environment and your health.

Don't waste food: If you have leftovers, don't throw them away, use them to create compost for you garden.

Productivity Hacks for great success

No matter who we are or where we are from, we only have 24 hours each day to get things done. Some people seem to make the most of their time to achieve their goals and dreams. Others feel that life is passing them by and they aren't accomplishing anything. If you are in the latter group, it is not too late to turn things around.

If you want to become more productive, it pays to learn about the Pareto principle. It states that for most tasks, 80 percent of the results we get come from 20 percent of the work we do. For example, 80 percent of the company sales usually come from 20 percent of customers. Therefore, the trick is to focus your efforts on the key 20 percent of actions to improve your results.

In some cases, people may be busy from morning to night but still seem to get nothing done. In this situation, the problem might be that clear goals haven't been set. To fix this, set some time aside to list the things you want to achieve in life. Then, select the top three or four that you want to focus on for the next year. Look at your goals every night before bedtime and ask yourself what are the next actions to accomplish each day. Then, promise yourself that you will finish these tasks no matter how busy you get.

Another common mistake regarding productivity is not considering our energy levels. If we try to work around the clock, we will eventually get tired and quit. Everyone needs time to sleep, eat, socialize with friends, and unwind from the stress of the day. To make sure you don't burn out, be sure to schedule some time for breaks and fun activities. Finally, no matter how difficult your goals may seem, remember the old saying that "a journey of a thousand miles begins with a single step".

Read the following passage, then answer the questions

In our technology-driven world, we could spend an entire day without physically needing to see or talk to another person. It makes it easier for people to be separated.

That's not the kind of world we want to live in. There are many great things about our modern world, but the people in it should be at the top of that list. Taking a genuine interest in your family, friends, neighbors and even strangers is one of the most rewarding decisions you can make for yourself and those around you that you choose to serve.

Think back to the last time you helped someone. While you were doing it and afterward, how did you feel? You felt happy and more positive about life. That's because the fastest way to feel joy is serving others.

An old Chinese Proverb says, "If you want happiness for an hour, take a nap. If you want happiness for a day, go fishing. If you want happiness for a year, inherit a fortune. If you want happiness for a lifetime, help somebody."

But serving doesn't just make your heart feel good. Studies have shown that there are mental and physical health benefits to serving, like reducing depression, lowering blood pressure and lengthening your lifespan.

Putting other people's needs before yours also strengthens your relationships. It connects you with the one you're serving, and if that someone is someone you know, it creates a stronger bond with them.

And perhaps the best benefit of service is that if you help someone, they're more likely to do something nice for someone else that day. Your one act of kindness could have a major effect.

In short, giving a hand is one of the easiest things you can do to make a difference in this world.

Read the following passage, then answer the questions

The silence of the Reference Library was broken only by an occasional cough and by the sound of pages being turned over. There were about twenty people in the room, most of them with their heads bent over their books. The assistant librarian in charge of the room sat at a desk. She glanced at Omar as he came in, then went on with her work.

Omar had not been to this part of the library before. He walked around the room almost on tiptoe, afraid of disturbing the industrious readers. The shelves were filled with thick volumes. He found nothing interesting, until he came to photography section, which was one of his hobbies. The books in this section were on a high shelf out of his reach, so he had to fetch a small ladder to get one down. Unfortunately, as he was climbing down the ladder, the book slipped from his grasp and fell to the floor with a loud crash. Twenty pairs of eyes looked up at him simultaneously annoyed by this disturbance. Omar felt himself go red as he picked up his book.

He found the young lady assistant standing alongside him. "You must be more careful when you are handling these books," she said severely. She turned to go back to her desk. Then a sudden thought struck her. "By the way, how old are you?" she asked Omar. "Thirteen," he told her. "You're not allowed in here under the age of fourteen, you know," the assistant said. "Didn't you see the notice on the door?" Omar shook his head. He expected the assistant to ask him to leave.

Read the following passage, then answer the questions

In English, the phrase 'black sheep of the family' is used to describe someone who doesn't live his or her life the way the rest of the family expects them to. People like this must be common, because many other languages, mostly European, have exactly the same idiom. Other languages, like Russian, talk about someone being a 'white crow' (crows being birds that are nearly always black). Real black sheep are rather rare. From a farmer's point of view, black wool couldn't be changed into different colours, so it was seen as worthless. As a result, farmers used to be disappointed when, by chance, their white sheep sometimes had a baby with black wool. So if a family had a black sheep, it was definitely thought to be something undesirable.

Nowadays, though, the phrase has lost some of its negative meaning. This is probably because people don't worry as much as they used to if someone is a bit different from normal. In fact, some people even think of it as an advantage: it means that the person has a more exciting life than most others, who just follow the rules and don't take risks.

Choose the correct answer:

21. The best suitable title for the passage could be.....

- a- unlucky families.    b- living on the edge.
c- different colours.    d- rules and risks.

Sometimes similar drugs are administered to animals not for medical purposes, but for financial reasons. The farmers are simply trying to fatten the animals in order to obtain a higher price on the market. Although the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has tried repeatedly to control these procedures, the practices continue.

A healthy diet is related to good health. Often we are unaware of detrimental substances we ingest. Sometimes well-meaning farmers or others who do not realize the consequences add these substances to food without our knowledge.

Read the following passage, then answer the questions

Can social media impact day to day communication? If so, does it improve it or stall it? Studies have shown that we polish our communication skills when we chat online using various social media sites. We decide who gets to talk to us and who doesn't. We are in control of every piece of information that we wish to share and we can create the image that we want.

We can simulate a face-to-face conversation quite easily, since we can use a webcam and a microphone. If we have a shy personality, we can easily overcome that by practicing our conversational skills until we reach a point where we feel a bit more confident about ourselves.

Social media websites not only enrich the dialogues with people; we can also get in touch with our distance friends. We can also get other people informed about noble causes or online projects that will help them. We can also promote our business with much more success, if we know how to properly promote our products or services on social media, so as to get people to talk about them.

Using social media websites is a good way of expressing yourself or revealing a part of your personality. As long as we do not forget that online communication is not enough and cannot be a real substitute for face-to-face human contact, social media can indeed improve the way we communicate.
